11 June 1975.

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Let me thank you for a civil, temperate, and persuasive letter. Most of your colleagues are so obsessed with this affair that they have taken leave of ordinary courtesy in argumentation.

I hope to write about this controversy as a reasonably informed observer, generally familiar with the Warren Report and with the many objections that have been raised to it, but I have no intention of making this a life work on my part. I'm delighted to learn of your efforts to get at the undisclosed records, and applaud your persistence. My own mind is wholly open, and if it is not closed by the arrogance of some of your hoity-toity friends, I will be happy to follow developments as they come along.

Sincerely,

James J. Kilpatrick.
